We feel justly proud of the immense progress made by our Prescription Department in such small space of time. Confidence is the thing to gain, and to gain the confidence of the people has been our objective point, buttle, buttle, accuracy, prompiness. Purity, accuracy, promptiness—three assential features for prescription work—combined with chemically pure drugs and chemicals used in the prescriptions, has made us a reputation of which we are truly tion of which we are truly

10th Anniversary Sale of Drugs, Medicines, Toilet Articles WILL BE CONTINUED THIS WEEK.

Owing to the extremely disagreeable weather prevailing during the past week, we have decided to continue our "SPECIAL SALE" a few days longer in order to give those who were not able to take advantage of the wonderful bargains we are offering a chance to supply themselves. Last week was a record breaker for business, but we still have a number of choice bargains left. Make out your list and come early, as we want you all to have the same advantage. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage during the past week and hoping for a continuance this week.

N. B.—On account of the very low prices offered, only two articles of a kind will be sold to a customer.

STRICKLAND GETS PRISON SENTENCE

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ASHEVILLE, N. C., February 9.-Charles Abel Strickland, who wa arrested here some time ago, at the instance of his first wife, formerly Mrs. Miller, of Columbia, S. C., who charged him with bigamy, was yesterday sentenced by Judgo Cook, in the Superior Court, to eighteen months imprisonment. He took an appeal to the Supreme Court, and was released on $500 bail.

Mrs. Madden, indicted for having married Strickland, knowing that at the time he had a wife living, was the time he had a wife living, was acquitted.

Wife No. 1, who came here from Columbia to testify against her husband, stated that Strickland, while running as a freight conductor between Columbia and Greenville, S. C., became entangled with Mrs. Madden, with wnom he lived during his trips to Greenville. He later deserted his Columbia wife, informing her that he intended to marry Mrs. Madden, and warning her that if she caused his arrest he would kill her on his release from prison.

Mrs. Strickland No. 1, learning subsequently that her husband had married Mrs. Madden and was then living in Asheville, communicated with the police authorities of this city, and her husband was promptly arrested. Wife No. 2, was also locked up, when later she visited her husband at the jail.

I. Strickland on the stand testified later she visited her husband at the jail.

I strickland on the stand testified on his own behalf that while living with wife No. 1 in Columbia, he had been informed by her son of a previous marriage, and that her former husband was still allive, and he (Strickland), had better decamp. He later heard that Miller, the first husband, was in Columbia, whereupen he left Columbia, and later married Mrs. Madden.

Mrs. Strickland No. 1 testified that she had some time before marrying Strickland received a letter from an unit of Miller that he had died pneumonia in Texas, and she had not seen or heard from her former husband since, and had every reason to believe him dead.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty against Strickland, and a sentence of eighteen months imprisonment was imposed.

C. Dempsey with reference to the prospective encampinent of the Virginia brigade of infaniry volunteers at the exposition. Lieutenant Cootes stated that it was the desire of the exposition officials to have the entire brigade encamped at the exposition at one time, but for how long has not yet been determined. He merely talked over the situation generally with the State officers, and did not go into the subject in detail. This will be taken up later. Lieutenant Cootes, who now ranks as a first lieutenant, and is high on the list, will soon be promoted to a captaincy. He is a Virginian and a former resident of Richmond. Colonel William J. Perry, of Staunton, commanding the Seventieth Regiment, Virginia Infantry, was in the city Friday and called at the Adjutant-General's office. Later in the day he called at the armory and conferred with the officers of the regiment in this city and of the companies embraced in it, talking over the situation with eference to the prospective Jamestown trip, the new uniforms and other subjects of interest to the militia.

Colonel Perry stated that he was not a candidate for brigadier-general and could not accept if the honor were offered him.

DELIVER LEGTURE ON 'STONEW ALL'' JACKSON

Colonel George M. Edgar, of Lexington, Ky., an old V. M. I cadet and a classmate of Colonel W. E. Cutshaw, will shortly deliver a lecture here on Stonevzall Jackson

Colonel Edgar is a native of Virginia and a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, where he was a pupil of "Stonevall" Jackson, and later, was associated institute, where he was a pupil of "Stone-wall" Jackset, and later, was associated with him as assistant professor in the same institution.

He was subsequently associated with Major (afterwards Lieutenant-General) D. H. Hill in the faculty of the North Carodina Military Institute at Charlotte; but at the beginning of the war, was professor in the Florida State Seminary at Tallahassee. Ealisting as a private in the first company organized there, he served for a short time at Fort Barancas under General Bragg; but, securing a transfer to the Virginia army, was soon captain in the Fifty-ninth Virginia Regiment, serving under General Henry A. Wise in the Kamawha Valley.

In the spring of 1862 his company was detached from the Wise Legion and organized, with others, into the Twenty-sixth Virginia Battailion, which he commanded from its organization until the campaign of 1865 opened, after which he commanded Echolis's Brigade until the close of the war, serving during these years under Generals Heth, Williams, Echols, Loring, Sam Jones, Breckinridge, Early and Robert E. Lee, chiefly in Western Virginia, but in the latter part of the war in the Valley and before Richinond.

General John S. Williams speaks of his

the war in the Valley and before Richmond.

General John S. Williams speaks of his services as follows: "Colonel Edgar commanded a regiment (battallon) under me in the late war, and always distinguished himself in battle."

General John Echols says: "During the last two years of the war he (Colonel Edgar) was under my homediate command. I hazard nothing in saying that there was no officer of the Confederate Army of equal rank with him who was his superior in all the elements of a true soldier and officer. A first-rate disciplinarian, he yet endeared his men to him, and I believe, greatly distinguished himself in every battle in which he was engaged."

Colonel Edgar has delivered his lecture

NEW STEAMER LINE.

Independent Company Between Norfolk and Washington.

NORFOLK, VA., February 9.—There will soon be established a second steamer line between Norfolk and Washington, D. C., the steamers of which will not only be far larger than are those of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, which has heretefore had a monopoly of this route, but will be larger than any steamers now in service between Norfolk and Baltimore. That, developments transpiring to-day show, is practically exsured.

folk and Baltimore. That, developments transpiring to-day show, is pructically assured.

It has also transpired that beside buying for $120,000 the former wharf property in Atlantic City Ward, Norfolk, the new company have secured a landing place on the water front of this city, down-town. A substantial payment has been made upon the Atlantic property, and within thirty days about $80,000 in cash will have been paid upon this account.

The new line is in effect a consolidation of several existing Potomac River lines, and the interested parties have acquired control of the stock of these lines and have bought excellent wharf property at Washington for terminals there. The new line will carry both freight and passengers.

Neither the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, the Chesapeaka Line, the Baltimore Steam Packet Company, nor any land or water transportation fine, which has terminals here is interested in the new line, nor is Norfolk capital. The financing is done in the North—by strong men who say that the business development of this port and the expansion of its tradewarrants the increase in transportation facilities between it and Washington.
